

Privacy and Dignity

By completing this course, you will be able to:

- Describe what is meant by privacy and dignity.
- List situations where an individual's privacy and dignity could be compromised.
- Describe how to maintain privacy and dignity in the work setting.
- Describe ways of helping individuals to make informed choices.
- Explain how risk assessment processes can be used to support the right of individuals to make their own decisions.
- Explain why personal views must not influence an individual's own choices or decisions.
- Describe why there may be times when they need to support an individual to question or challenge decisions made about them by others.
- Ensure any risk assessment processes are used to support the right of individuals to make their own decisions.
- Ensure their own personal views do not influence an individual's own choices or decisions.
- Describe how to report any concerns they have to be the relevant person.
- Describe the importance of how valuing people contribute to active participation.
- Explain how to enable individuals to make informed choices about their lives.
- List other ways they can support active participation.
- Describe the importance of enabling individuals to develop skills in self-care and to maintain their own network of friends within their community.
- Demonstrate that they can support the active participation of individuals in their care.
- Reflect on how their own personal views could restrict the individual's ability to actively participate in their care.
- Report any concerns to the relevant person.

(We are working in partnership with the Grimsby Institute to support existing staff with development; they offer a wide range of short courses along with Diplomas in Health & Social care.)

Certificate awarded upon completion of induction. T&C's Apply.